STUDENT COUNCIL

Each grade in the junior and senior high school is represented on the Student Council. Mr. Lay, the Council sponsor, meets with the group every Monday after school.

The officers were elected during the fourth week of school in the fall, and homeroom representatives were elected the next week.

The work of the Council is to coordinate the activities of the school, to plan a calendar of events, and to approve new clubs and organizations. This year was a busy one because the council approved the charters and constitutions for all the clubs that were organized during this school year.

Another of its duties this year has been to amend the constitution that was ratified last year when the school was smaller. The Council found some of the articles that served well last year were unsuited to the larger enrollment this year.

It has been a year of constructive activity, which we hope will serve future council members well.

I believe you!

College bound.

Little beavers!

What do you think of this idea?

Our annual staff began working the first week of school. We started discussing what our annual should represent and just what we should include.

During the third week in September we elected our editors. Most of our members were inexperienced; so, under the direction of Mr. Thompson, we worked to become familiar with the duties involved in publishing an annual. Several times we had to change our layout, but before long we reached a setting pleasing to everyone on the staff.

The real work began after the selection of basic items. Our photographers took pictures of activities and students to form our photo hall of memories; the literary staff began to picture our life in Germany with words, and our business manager began our sales campaign.

We needed money for photography and incidentals, so we sponsored a "Sadie Hawkin's Day" dance where Liz Shannon reigned as queen. We also presented a dance for Valentine's Day.

We have gained many new experiences in working with an annual for the first time, and each new experience has been enjoyable.

First of all: Money!!!

Oh! We'll make it!

Deadline February 8th!!!

It worked the last time!

Our school had two soccer teams—one composed of senior high students and one of junior high students.

The teams were organized this year and have been playing just for practice since there is no organized league in this area. The boys have played games with American schools in Spangdahm and Wiesbaden. Along with opposing American teams, these boys have added an international spirit to their game. They have played schools in Luxembourg, Belgium, and Germany. Often for practice they play the German school in the town of Bitburg.

One of the most interesting experiences of the teams has been the game they played with a German school in Gerolstein. The boys were guests in the homes of the members of the German team. In return the players from Gerolstein visited in the homes of our American boys.
